

Working Student: Design

About us:

istari.ai (istari artificial intelligence) is a start-up data intelligence company. We provide real-time web-based company and market information. The Web is full of useful information about companies, but only a fraction of this information can be found in traditional corporate databases. We have developed webAI, an artificial intelligence-based tool that analyses and evaluates large-scale web data at high frequency. Our information is used by government agencies, private companies and universities.

Your tasks:

- Development of engaging marketing materials.
- Evolution of our corporate design.
- Taking photos for marketing purposes.
- Maintenance of our website (technical framework, SEO, and design).

Your qualifications:

- Creativity, capability to work independently, reliability, active communication and ability to work in a team.
- Knowledge of WordPress, image and graphics editing software.

What you can expect:

- Active participation in the development of a start-up in the field of web analytics and artificial intelligence.
- Gaining practical experience in a fast-growing start-up company.
- Close cooperation in a young and dynamic team with flat hierarchies.
- Independent work, e.g. by contributing and implementing your own ideas and projects.

This position is available immediately with free choice of location (Berlin, Mannheim or remote). Please send applications and questions by e-mail to Robert robert.dehghan@istari.ai